1V. It Imperiale.—Capital 5 million francs.—This is a sort of life assurance company, with features zomewhat more varied, we believe, than our companies what more in the following the professed of marginal marginal and industrial Company)—Capital 4,560,000 fr.; shares, 100f. each. The object is to work sixteen immense quarries, producing 28 shades of marble, which received honorable mention at the Exposition Universelle of 1855. The owners of the quarries get 3,000,000 frances for contributing the property, and the public is expected to supply the balance is 1,500,000 france; subscriptions, 250,000 france; no cash paid in (March, 1866). 86). VIII. Societe Generale de Sisarinerie.—This is a Candle Menufacturing Company, founded in 1849, which makes 3,500,000 lbs. of candles a year, own considerable real estate, and hopes soon to pay 15 to 20 eent dividends. Capital not ascertained. Price of stock last March, 110.

IX. Compagnie Impériale des Voitures de Paris.—(Imperial Hackney Coach Company of Paris.) This is a Company which has obtained a monopoly from the City of Paris, under the sanction of an imperial decree, and owns 1,997 voitures de pluce, that is, hacks stationed at stands in the public streets, and 679 voitures de remuse, or coupes, of a superior class, in stables. The Company has one establishment which accommodate 750 horses and 250 carriages, &c. Capital not mentioned.

X. Societé Générale des Clippers Française—This le a Company with a capital of 20,000,000 france, shares 160 each, owning a number of screw-propeiters and clippers. The council comprise Englishmen and Frenchmen in equal numbers, among whom are two French Admirals and an English Colonel. The object of the Company is to epen relations between France and the East India Colonies, "and to develop the maritime resources of the two greatest commercial nations—France and England." To save time and loss of interest on the capital invested, the Company has recently deemed it better to purchase eight spiendid clippers, ready made, from the English General Screw Steamshipping Company.

XI. Société de la Baleine Française (French Whale-from the English General Screw Steamshipping Company.

XI. Société de Baleine Française (French Whalebore Company)—This is a Company which is less indebted for its creation to the example of the Crénit Mobilier than to the fair Impecial originator of the present fashion of inflated skiris. Its capital is comparatively small, considering the number of women that consume, or rather convey whalebone—being only 1,200,000f., in shares of 50 each to bearer. The whalebone bere manufactured is an artificial composition, leaving from 48 to 52 V cent profit. We find no Spanish grandees or English colonels among the Directors, but preseme the concern is under petticoat government.

XII. Compagnie Parisienne des Equipages de Grande Remise.—Phis Company has bought out the Various livery stables in Paris, whose business consisted in letting out vehicles by the week, month, or year, to such persons as wish to keep a carrange always at their disposal, but are unwilling to purchase an establishment. The property comprises 1,000 vehicles of the first class, and 1,500 horses. Capital 8,000 000f.; shares 100; created 2d May, 1856.

XIII. Crédit Foncer.—This is a company organ ized somewhat after the plan of the Crédit Mobilier, with the distinction that the latter contines its operations to joint stock companies, while the former is restricted to real estate, mostly bond and mortgages. The conditions of its charter are not known to us, and the peculiar features of this institution are, therefore, bus, terra inoegnita. Its object is to benefit the agricultural classes by bringing them in closer and easier relations with capital. Its authorized capital is 20,92,000f., of which there has been paid over 13,000,000f. if the suntherized to issue 200,000,000f. in bonds bearing 3 and 4 V cent, with a lottery feature statched; also a few millions of 5 V cent bonds. The bonds outstanding 31st December, 1855, amounted to about 66,000,000f. Its dividends for 1855 amounted to about 66,000,000f. Its dividends for 1855 amounted to about 66,000,0 chares 250 each; 150 cash, balance later. Within amonth the land had risen from 50 to 250 francs per metre, and the stock stood at a high premium; and in June the Directors had under consideration a project to buy up the old town of Marteilles, and to rebuild it after leveling its bills and laying it out anew.

XVI. Compagnie Genérale Maritime.—This Company, with a capital of 30,000,000 francs, one half of which was paid in on the 31st Dec. last, owns 63 ships, 10 of which are steamers, measuring in all 25,850 tuns. Its purpose is to keep apen the communication between the chief scaports of France and various parts of the world; Airica, Australis, India and California, in particular. It also engages in the fisheries off the Banks, makes advances on consignments of merchandise shipped, manufactures, guano, imports, salted meats; and, when the public necessities require it, as in 1855, it purchases abroad rice and breadstuffs for home consumption. These grain operations, undertaken last year at the instigation of the Government, resulted unfortunately; but the loss will only figure on the next balance sheet. The profits for 1855 amounted to 636,000 francs, or about 4 % cent, after passing 100,000 francs to depreciation account. The Company began experations about May, 1855.

XVII. Caisse du Commerce des Etats Sardes—Capital 40,000,000 francs. This is the name of the Sardinan Credit Mobilier, organized under the patronage of Count Cavour and the Rothecuids. The latter were at first opposed to this new scheme, and refused to take the 2,000 shares of the Paris Credit Mobilier which were placed at their disposal by Mr. Percire, but they are now at the head of two such institutions, one in Furin and one in Vienna. The sances rose immediately to 400 france premium. Organized May, 1856.

XVIII. Compagnie Anglo-Françuse des Champs Elysées—Capital 50,000,000 francs; shares 100 francs cach; 25 cash; balance later. Organized last May. The Company proposes to undertake and contract fer all the great improvements required in company with one country and company guarantees of the stockholders. The Company guarantees of cent, with the privilege of more.

XIX. Compagate des Terrains de l'Acenue de Nearly.—A company similar to the above, with 4,00,000 francs capital, shares 200 cach, 100 cash down, balance laver; organized last May. It proposes to buy, build, and resell 85,000 metres of land on the avenue de Neuilly. The stock is likewise entatled to 5 of cent, and can be paid off by the Company at 25 of cent premium whenever the profits admit at it.

XX. Compagane Internationale du Credit Houiller et Métallurgique.—Capital 20,000,000 francs, under French and English auspices; organized in June, 1800, 5 of cent guaranteed, and dividend beyond that. Its object is to consolidate French, English, and Belgian mines, founderies, and forges, to buy, sell, and dabble in all manner of ways in all species of mining property and stocks.

XXI. Compagnic Universelle du Caval Maritime de

XXI. Compagnic Universelle du Canal Maritime de Suct.—The terms on which this Company is organized have been previously published in the United States. Its object is to cut a ship canal across the Isthmus of Sucz. Its anthorized capital is 200,000,000 france.

XXII. Cause Générale des Chemiss de Fer.—This is an institution whose object we cannot learn anything about. It seems to be a sort of Frust Company for the benefit of railroads, with a capital of 30,000,000 france.

XXIII. Societé des Journaux, Réunis de Constitutionnel et le Pays.—This is a Joint Stock Company, owning two newspaper establishments. Capital not mentioned; shares, 500 francs; dividend for 1855, 75 france, or 15 # cent.

We have here de scribed nearly two disten sohemes of the most diversified character, and of equally dif-

of the most diversified character, and of equally dif-ferent degrees of merit, none of them, however, pre-senting, in our bumble opinion, those poculisr guaran-tee of soundness as to principal and interest that we find in the 6 P cent stocks of the Government of the United States. The exhibits of these Companies are a little more florid and exuberant in style than the blainess-like reports of our Secretary of the Treasury, but, we must confess, for all that we give him the preference. We have not said anything about French railway schemes, partly because we are not informed, and partly because space is wanting; but we may enumer ate the Lombardo-Venetian railways, the projected railway over the Simplen, the Austrian railways, the Swiss railways, beside the German. Praesian, and, more recently, the Russian and Turkish railways—all of them gigantic commonates of capital, in a state of greater or less advancement. We may also add the unfortunate scheme of the Napeleon Docks just outside of Paris, and the more prosperous ones of the Consolidated Omnibus Lines of Paris, the Consolidated Gas and Fuel Companies, beside the Banque Internationale Suisse, the Union Financière, and last, but not least, the Crédit Mobilier of Vienna, under the auspices of the Rothschilds. We have confined our notices chiefly to France; but the German schemes are far mere wild and extravagant, and will one of these days constitute an interesting chapter in the history of finance, and will, no doubt, be consulted by our domestic financiers and Robert Macaires the next time the American money market touches high-water mark.

One thing has struck us in looking over these exhibits, notwithstanding the boast of the English press of their exemption from Continental entanglements, among the Directors of these French Companies English nemes are not rare, and when subscriptions are wanted books are frequently opened simultaneously in Landon and Paris.

FUES AND SKINS-The demand as usual at this season of the year is confined to the home trade, which is quite as active as might have been anticipated. Mink are in excellent demand, and, contrary to the expectations of those familiar with the trade, have fully maintained their prices, and are now quite as high as at the opening of the season; we quote No. I from $28
